In commercial fitouts, the real test of furniture isn't how it looks on day one, it's how it performs over time. That's why a warranty isn't just a box to tick. It's a symbol of confidence. At OLG, every product we offer is backed by a 10-year warranty, because we believe trust should be built into every workspace.

When customers choose OLG, they're placing their trust in our design, our materials, and our promise to deliver products that endure. We take that responsibility seriously and we back it with a decade of assurance.

Trust Built into Every Product.

In the world of commercial interiors, it's easy to get caught up in aesthetics. But real value lies in durability, adaptability, and long-term performance. OLG products are designed to support evolving workplace needs, day after day, year after year.

From premium-grade materials to precision engineering testing, durable mechanisms and resilient finishes, every OLG product is purpose-built to perform in high-use environments day after day. When a customer chooses OLG, they're relying on us to deliver not just function and style. Our 10-year warranty is a reflection of our commitment to quality and consistency across the board.
