In commercial fitouts, the real test of furniture isn't how it looks on day one, it's how it performs over time. That's why a warranty isn't just a box to tick. It's a symbol of confidence. At OLG, every product we offer is backed by a 10-year warranty, because we believe trust should be built into every workspace.

When customers choose OLG, they're placing their trust in our design, our materials, and our promise to deliver products that endure. We take that responsibility seriously and we back it with a decade of assurance.

Trust Built into Every Product.

In the world of commercial interiors, it's easy to get caught up in aesthetics. But real value lies in durability, adaptability, and long-term performance. OLG products are designed to support evolving workplace needs, day after day, year after year.

From premium-grade materials to precision engineering testing, durable mechanisms and resilient finishes, every OLG product is purpose-built to perform in high-use environments day after day. When a customer chooses OLG, they're relying on us to deliver not just function and style. Our 10-year warranty is a reflection of our commitment to quality and consistency across the board.

Long-Term Reliability. Lower Lifetime Costs.

A longer warranty means more than peace of mind, it means less unplanned maintenance, fewer costly replacements, and more predictable budgets. For businesses and project managers, OLG's extended warranty represents true long-term value. This provides confidence that the investment made today will continue to deliver value well into the future.

Commercial fitouts are long-term decisions. They deserve solutions that are designed with the same horizon in mind.

Durability That Supports Sustainability.

Furniture that lasts longer doesn't just save money it reduces environmental impact. Fewer replacements mean less landfill, lower resource consumption, and a reduced carbon footprint.

At OLG, we view sustainability as a responsibility. That's why we design with longevity, repairability, and reusability in mind. Our 10-year warranty supports a more sustainable approach to design and procurement, helping businesses make choices that are both smart and sustainable.

Confidence in a Changing Workplace.

Workplaces evolve, teams grow, layouts shift, and priorities change. OLG products are built to adapt. With a 10-year warranty, our furniture doesn't just survive change; it supports it. That kind of flexibility adds long-term value to every fitout.

Our warranty protects more than the product; it supports the people and spaces it was made for.

A Commitment You Can Trust.

Warranty periods across the industry vary with some as low as 3 years, but when you see a 10-year warranty, it's more than just a number. It's a reflection of a manufacturer's belief in their product. At OLG, that belief runs deep. We stand behind our products because durability, quality, and sustainability aren't optional, they're essential.

When you choose OLG, you're choosing a partner that stands behind every product. Not just today, but for the years to come.
